Are you financially ready for the rest of 2024? Take the first step toward preparation by exploring the educational resources and counseling support we offer. These resources empower Soldiers and Families with the knowledge and tools needed to reach their monetary goals and maintain financial well-being. Learn more at www.financialfrontline.org.
Why is financial literacy important to me? Building a secure financial future empowers you to create economic well-being and resiliency, build wealth and retire with piece of mind. Talking with a financial professional today will have a positive impact on your tomorrow. Find financial tips on the Directorate of Prevention, Resilience and Readiness website: https://www.armyresilience.army.mil/.
What financial resources are available to me? The Army offers financial prevention education, debt liquidation and emergency assistance, consumer complaint resolution and even classes for young people. Find more information about these tools at www.financialfrontline.org.
When do I need a financial counselor? Don't wait for an emergency. Personal financial managers and counselors partner with you at every financial step of your military experience. These highly trained professionals can help you create a budget, develop a spending plan and achieve economic security.
